4. Read Carol's blog post. Use the cues to correct the underlined sentences.

Yesterday, I went to buy the tickets for the benefit concert to raise money for the local Music School. When I arrived at the queue, <sup>[1]</sup> a man was paying for the tickets. But, unfortunately, <sup>[2]</sup> there were a lot of people. While I was standing there, a man was eating a hot dog and I felt hungry. I realised that <sup>[3]</sup> there was a food truck very near. Lucky me! But then, I saw that <sup>[4]</sup> a boy was cycling towards it. He had his eyes closed and <sup>[5]</sup> he was holding his school bag. I thought that nothing worse could happen. And, just like that, a dog appeared and <sup>[6]</sup> ran away with some sausages. While I couldn't believe my eyes, the vendor didn't even know what was happening. <sup>[7]</sup> He was just looking at his phone! Do you want to know the rest of the story? Leave a comment and tomorrow I'll give you all the details. Today all I can say is that I have got my ticket! 😊

1. (shout at the ticket office) A man was shouting at the ticket office.
2. (not many people) _____
3. (a hot dog stand) _____

6. Write your comment for Carol's blog post. Use the Simple Past and the Past Continuous.

Hi, Carol! It's great that you've got your ticket... And what an incredible situation you witnessed while you were at the queue.
I want to know what happened in the end! My guess is that while...
