TRACK 9 - Transcript

Interviewer: In today's programme, we're interviewing Paul Sanders who is an expert in endangered species. Welcome, Paul!

Paul: Thank you for inviting me.

Interviewer: Can you tell us something about your job?

Paul: Well, I'm a biologist and I work for the World Wildlife Fund, an organisation that helps to protect animals and plants that are at risk of extinction in different parts of the planet. I travel all around the world to meet other experts and discuss ideas on how to protect endangered species.

Interviewer: I see. And what are your plans for next year? Are you going to travel anywhere?

Paul: Well, if we can, we are going to have three meetings next year: one in Northern China, one in East Africa and another one in the island in Borneo, in South East Asia. As you probably know, the Amur leopard, the Black rhino and the Bornean Orangutan are going to disappear in the near future and we must do something to protect them.

Interviewer: And when do you think your first meeting will take place, Paul?

Paul: Well... we are planning to have our first meeting in January. We'll see...
